Veterinary Laboratory Diagnostics (AAVLD). In addition to providing diagnostic services for the Pennsylvania Game Commission and Penn Vet's Widener hospital, the laboratory also receives livestock (horses, cattle, small ruminants, camelids, poultry), companion animal (dogs and cats), and laboratory animal diagnostic necropsy cases. The position also requires clinical training of veterinary and postdoctoral students in veterinary pathology.

Applicants must have a DVM/VMD degree and ACVP board certification. In addition to excellent communication and writing skills, a track record of wildlife expertise and the ability to develop an investigator-driven research program are required. Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's training and experience.

The search committee will begin considering applications immediately. The anticipated start date is as soon as possible.
