Job Description

The Department of Anatomy, Physiology, and Pharmacology in the College of Veterinary Medicine at Auburn University invites applications for a full-time, 12-month, tenure track position at the Assistant/Associate Professor level. Responsibilities include directing an extramurally funded research program, and participation in team-teaching of first year veterinary curriculum (Histology or Pharmacology) and other graduate instruction. Successful candidate should have a strong record of innovative research, a commitment to the educational mission of the department, excellent communication skills, and an enthusiastic approach to collaborative efforts. Candidates with research interests that complement current research in the department are encouraged to apply. Examples of research areas that complement departmental strengths include, but are not limited to: endocrinology, reproduction, cardiovascular, neuroscience, and metabolic diseases.
