students during their rotations in various animal clinics. They will also be required to coordinate clinical activities in collaboration with local and regional veterinary clinicians in the UAE. Candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to teaching excellence and student advising at the undergraduate level and actively engage in promoting the growth of the UAE University. The application package should include a cover letter, a detailed resume, a brief description of current/future research activities, teaching philosophy, and courses taught. English is the language of instruction and communication. Screening of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Responsibilities:

1. Collaborating with local veterinary clinicians, manage and supervise veterinary students during their clinical activities and internships.
2. Deliver high-quality practical sessions and clinical training in a wide range of veterinary surgery subjects across different animal species.
3. Provide academic and professional mentorship to veterinary students, guiding them in their internships. Encourage and support student involvement in extracurricular activities related to veterinary medicine.
4. Actively participate in outreach programs, continuing education initiatives, and community service related to veterinary surgery.
5. Undertake administrative responsibilities as assigned by the department, including committee work, student advisement, and other duties related to the academic and research mission of the department.
6. Providing professional clinical veterinary services, the department expects to offer to the farming community and local and regional veterinary clinicians.

Minimum Qualification

1. Master or equivalent degree in Veterinary Surgery.
2. Good academic experience focusing on training in Veterinary Surgery, Anesthesiology and Diagnostic Imaging labs across various animal species.
3. Excellent interpersonal skills and communication.
4. Professional veterinary license (or eligibility for licensure) in the United Arab Emirates.
